Irma Makes Strong Bid For New School

A large and interested group of ratepayers and residents of Irma and district met in the High school Monday night to discuss the problem of school accommodation in the village. The thorough discussion brought to the attention of those present the total inadequacy of present conditions.

Among the undesirable features emphasized were overcrowding and lack of proper heating and ventilating systems, lack of sanitary facilities, lack of laboratory and of playroom space, and lack of proper lighting. It is certain that, particularly in the rooms housing the younger pupils, congestion, uneven heating and stale air make it impossible for either pupils or teachers to do their most effective work.

Several persons were present who are more or less familiar with the school plans of the towns and villages to the east, and they with exception, expressed the opinion that the area served by the Irma school now, has the unenviable distinction of sending its children to the most out-of-date, conglomerate, and dilapidated town school plant in the division.

It was pointed out to the meeting that since the Wainwright school Division has accepted under its administration the educational affairs of the towns within its boundaries, it has built new schools in Edgerton, dormitory accommodation in Wainwright, and has begun construction of an admirable modern school building in Chauvin. Several rural ratepayers pointed out that the part of the Division contingent to Irma is bigger than that contingent to any of the other townships or villages, and that the assessment per parcel of land is, on the average, much higher than that in the other districts.

This end of the Division, therefore, pays an impressive share of the taxation collected by the Board. They felt that in the matter of school accommodation, Irma should receive the next consideration.

The meeting decided, almost unanimously, to circulate in the district a petition for presentation to the Board, requesting that before any further construction be undertaken in any other town, Irma should receive a new, modern school, spacious enough to provide for present and foreseeable needs of the area. It was emphasized strongly that the meeting was not prepared to sanction any stop-gap policy of moving rural school buildings into the already crowded school grounds.

The LETTER BOX

(The Times is not responsible for opinions expressed under this heading.)

Mar. 15, 1949

To the Editor of the Irma Times, Dear Sir,

Last night at a meeting of the ratepayers of Irma and district, I read a letter which I had sent to the "Star-Chronicle" of Wainwright. A resolution was passed asking me to send this letter to you for publication. I was asked to include in the letter the following information supplied the ratepayers by Mr. F. Hill, from Mr. Stimson's report to the Divisional Board. The average attendance per student in the schools for all grades up to Grade 9 is:

Ribstone 23, Chauvin 23, Edgerton 26, Wainwright 28 and Irma 34.

My letter to the "Star-Chronicle" follows:

I have just read a letter in the Star-Chronicle written by Mr. Teskey, concerning the unsatisfactory school building in Wainwright.

Now, Mr. Editor, if the school building setup in Wainwright, then the school building accommodation in Irma is not only unsatisfactory—it is iniquitous.

Mr. Teskey mentions the menace to the health of his high school students, having to travel some eighty yards or so from one classroom to another. We have a group of some forty primary and elementary children who have to go more than eighty yards to a two-roomed building in which all the rural pupils eat their lunch under supervision. This is a daily occurrence in all weather. Moreover, all the 169 pupils in our school, big as little, have to use outside toilets (Wainwright has inside toilets) in forty below weather, and this is the year of our Lord 1949, the year in which the legislators in this rich province voted themselves $3000 for a session of about six weeks. Surely iniquitous.

And after our seventy or so rural children have eaten their lunch, what are they to do in the remaining fifty minutes of the noon recess for the four months of our rigorous winter? Wainwright, Mr. Teskey says, has a play room 30x40 for the smaller children. Irma has no heated space for them except the classrooms. And so the little folk of Irma are crammed, confined, by an enforced inactivity that will cramp their minds and spirits for the rest of their lives. This is surely iniquitous.

We seem to have about the same number of school buildings as Wainwright. Mr. Teskey does not specify the ages of all the four Wainwright buildings. One of them is a modern air-conditioned building erected in 1938. We have nothing nearly so satisfactory. Our newest building, the two-roomed high school was erected as a one-roomed building in 1925, and an additional room without basement was added about five years ago. We have a two-roomed building erected in 1918; a cottage school built in 1912 and a rural school building built in 1914. This 1914 building houses the teacher and the thirty-seven pupils of grades 3, 4 and 5. Mr. Teskey gets cold feet when he visits one or two of his classrooms. I get a sinking feeling in my heart when I visit this classroom. The doorstep is so worn and disheveled that a dozen mice could enter abreast under the door and in zero weather a rug stuffs this narrow entrance. The room has an air capacity of 3100 cubic feet. Alberta school health regulations call for 15 cubic feet of air per minute per person. The 37 pupils, the teacher, and the waterbury stove will consume all the clean air in less than fifteen minutes. Before the first recess the little folk of Irma have breathed that same air six times over. The word "iniquitous" is not strong enough to apply to those responsible for continuing to keep a teacher and small children in such a disease trap.

And in our cottage school built in 1912 with a 9-foot ceiling a slightly worse air condition exists.

Easterly Echoes

Mr. Julius Stougard has received word that his mother will not be returning as early as planned, owing to the serious illness of her son Holgar.

Mr. Wilfred Sanders had the misfortune to injure his left hand while working with his tractor.

The Roseberry F.U.A. are planning a dance to be held in the school on Friday, March 25th. Everybody welcome.

Mrs. Stuart Fenton left by bus for Calgary on Sunday.

Glen-Coa Gleanings

Sharon congregation is looking forward to a program by a group of Camrose Lutheran Bible school students. This program will be at the Church next Sunday afternoon, March 20th, beginning at 2 p.m.

Several have been on the sick list of late—just old enemy Flu! making his usual spring rounds.

We are glad to welcome Miss Lilly Nelson into our midst again. We understand she is on an extended visit home.

Miss Olive Reitan is also on a visit home with her grandmother, Mrs. A. Leland.

Miss Solveig Steffensen spent last weekend at her home here. She assures us it is the last one for a while, but we hope it won't be too long a while.

Mrs. B. Nyblom spent a week recently visiting her mother, Mrs. A. Lindquist.

Mr. R. T. Meakins is home from Wainwright Hospital where he has been for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bethge and family are very busy moving at this time. As they are leaving our district for their new home at Amisk we certainly want to wish them well in their new venture.

Mr. Carl Gulbrua is a Calgary visitor this week.

Mrs. A. Owen had a surprise visit from her two daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Kelly of Sanguine and Mrs. Wm. Rehu of Valleyview last week. Doris was also home from Edmonton. They all spent last Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Francis Johnson of Loughheed.

In the former room the 37 pupils, teacher and stove exhaust the fresh air in 13½ minutes; in this one the 34 pupils, teacher and stove can exhaust the fresh air in 11 minutes. However, if enough heat is available the air space in this room may be increased by opening the doors into the cloak room. Thus, this disease trap is possibly, no worse than the other one.

Because then, it is iniquitous for 169 pupils of Irma to be obliged to continue to use outside toilets, because it is iniquitous for these pupils to have no heated play room in cold weather, because it is grossly iniquitous to oblige teachers and their pupils to subsist on unclean air, and because it is evident that Wainwright does not suffer from these disabilities, we people of Irma and district demand that before the Divisional Board embark on any grandiose long range building plan for Wainwright that we get a new school building. Yours truly,

I. S. Reeds,
Principal Irma S.D. No. 2435.

Sir: The Irma branch of the Women's Institute has circulated the following letter to persons having an interest in our local cemetery:

In the Legislature

By W. Masson, M.L.A.

The Budget brought down by Premier Manning last week was the largest in Alberta's history. Some of the highlights showed 1948 value of agricultural products as at $545,000,000, an increase of $70,000,000 over the previous year.

Value of minerals and natural resources last year is estimated at $99,000,000. This was made up of lumber products $18,094,000; coal products $41,875,000; petroleum products $35,127,000. This was an increase of 4,000,000 barrels and $17,000,000 in value over 1947.

The premier indicated that 200,000,000 gallons of oil products are purchased each year in Alberta and for each 1c gallon reduction in price represents a saving of $2,000,000 to Alberta consumers. There are more than 630 wells producing in the province now.

Last year 32 new industries started in Alberta employing 1,200 people.

Treasury Branches showed a business increase and a profit of $127,100,000. Deposits by the public are approximately $29,000,000.

The net funded and unfunded debt was decreased by $16,992,144 last year. It was argued by the premier that income from oil bearing assets should be utilized to provide citizens with other assets such as roads. The income from the sale of leases is not a permanent revenue and should not be utilized to meet current expenditures, claimed Mr. Manning.

School grants will be increased by $1,300,000; hospital grants by $50,000; for T.B. treatment an increase of $209,000. The increased pensions to Old Age and Blind Pensioners will cost the Province an additional $550,000. The Government paying the 10% that was before charged to the Municipalities will cost another $275,000. An increase of $160,000 has been provided for "Mother's Allowances." Three quarters of a million dollars is provided in the Public Works account for bridges, maintenance and replacement. This is an increase of $350,000. $2,600,000 will be made available to Municipal and Improvement Districts by way of grants.

The ever expanding services that have been given by the Government have called on larger expenditures every year and no new taxes have been imposed. The Social Service Tax, which was cancelled two years ago, reduced Provincial revenue by more than a million and a half a year. This is rather interesting when we realize that additional new taxes have had to be levied in both British Columbia and Saskatchewan.

Conservation In Canada

SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION on the prairies long ago ceased to be the problem of individual farmers and became matters of national interest and concern. Agricultural scientists have for some time been drawing attention to the fact that due to soil erosion and other factors which are causing deterioration of farm lands, there is danger of an acute and lasting shortage of food throughout the world in the near future. The problem has already been faced in Canada and a great deal has been done to conserve moisture and preserve the soil of our great wheat growing areas.

Canada Leads Other Nations

Nevertheless we are told that there are over 30,000 abandoned farms in Canada, totalling some 5,023,541 acres. These figures would undoubtedly be higher were it not for what has been accomplished in Western Canada in the last fifteen years in regard to soil and moisture conservation. L. B. Thomson, director of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, under which so much effective work has been done since the serious drought in the 1930's, stated recently that he believes that Canadian farmers have much to be proud of because they are now ahead of most places in the world in this important work.

Problem Now Serious One

It is interesting and encouraging to hear from an authoritative source that Canada is ahead of other places in dealing with this problem, now recognized to be a serious one in many parts of the world. The success which has been attained here testifies to the industry and initiative of those who have carried on the work of the P.F.R.A., and other services which have been maintained to help the farmers. It also testifies to the co-operation which the farmers have given in carrying out the recommendations made to them. The problem is one which may never be entirely solved, and although much help can be given by governments and universities it is also important that farmers should at all times be organized to deal with the individual problems of their own particular districts. There is every reason to be confident that there will be continued co-operation and progress in this undertaking which is important not only to our own country, but to people in other countries who look to Canada for vital supplies of food.

Has Diplomatic Reply In Referring To Calgary Stampede

OTTAWA.—Western newspapers have belabored him for it, but External Affairs Minister Pearson still stands by his tribute to the Ottawa Rough Riders as "the best team I've ever seen play."

The minister paid the tribute at a recent testimonial banquet for the Riders, defeated by the Calgary Stampede in the Grey Cup final at Toronto last December.

"I said Rough Riders were the best team I'd ever seen and so they are," affirmed Mr. Pearson. But then he added quickly: "I didn't happen to mention that I'd never seen Calgary Stampede play."

He was at a United Nations meeting in Paris at the time of the Grey Cup final.

Benefits Seen From Wild-Life Management

EDMONTON.—Alberta's Banff and Jasper national parks are showing the benefits from a program of wild-life management, designed to ensure a proper balance between the elk population and the carrying capacity of the natural park ranges.

The ranges themselves have shown general improvement and the animals themselves are in fine condition. One of the main features of the management program this winter has been reduction of the increased elk herds by carefully controlled slaughters.

The slaughters were made necessary by increases in elk herds to the point where they were over-using their food supplies, threatening starvation to themselves and permanent reduction of the carrying capacity of the natural ranges.

The slaughters are controlled as to numbers, location, sex, age and condition of the animals. There is no wastage of meat involved. Meat and hides are turned over to the Indian Affairs department, the former to be used for food by needy Indians and the latter for work in leather crafts.

THE TILLERS

Railroader Recalls "Good Old Days"

EDMONTON, Alta.—Peter Baiter, Western pioneer, celebrated his 90th birthday here recently and mourned "the good old days." For a reason too.

It's been years since he stood off 300 armed Indians, or gave up a rancher's daughter with a dowry of 100 head of cattle to marry another girl or even ordered a $5 gallon jug of good Scotch whisky for the "end-of-steel" at Winnipeg.

Pete came to Canada from Cleveland in 1882 and started spiketrading for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company as the railway was being built across the prairies.

"They paid me $1.50 for a 10-hour day and I said to myself "this country's fit for neither man nor beast" but with 25 cents in my pocket, chances of getting out of it were mighty slim. Time I had enough money, I didn't want to leave," Pete recalled.

The Riel Rebellion tension was at its height as Pete and his crew laid steel across the prairies between Medicine Hat and Calgary. One day a raiding party of 500 Indians descended on them.

"They had a rifle apiece and we had five among us," the old timer said. "It took a lot of nerve to go on laying the track with them getting closer and meaner-looking all the time."

The railroaders held their ground until a missionary, Father LaCombe, convinced the Indians that the railroad would be of advantage to them. By spring, 1887, Pete's thoughts had "lightly turned".

Only eligible girl in the immediate vicinity of his prairie home was a rancher's daughter whose dowry included 100 head of cattle and $1,000 in cash.

So Pete, who had saved up $750, returned to Cleveland "to pick me out a wife."

By Cleveland, his first proposal was refused. The girl's mother pointed out that in Canada, Indians frequently killed white people and ate them. After a 100-day courtship, he married a pretty dishwasher and brought her to Canada.

At 90, Pete attributes his longevity to hard work, long-lived ancestors.

West Lumber Output Higher

OTTAWA.—Western production of sawn lumber bolstered output from the rest of Canada in 1948, the bureau of statistics reports.

Increases in the output of British Columbia and Alberta counter-balanced declines in all other provinces as the all-Canada production totalled 5,328,000,000 board feet, a slight decline from the 5,346,000,000 feet produced in 1947.

Output by provinces, with 1947 totals in brackets: Prince Edward Island 9,830,000 (12,705,000) feet; Nova Scotia 273,058,000 (348,389,000); New Brunswick 220,303,000 (289,817,000); Quebec 1,050,961,000 (4,144,138,000); Ontario 699,518,000 (725,389,000); Manitoba 47,096,000 (56,224,000); Saskatchewan 83,614,000 (107,572,000); Alberta 273,347,000 (246,575,000); British Columbia 2,668,147,000 (2,415,171,000).

Increase In Immigration

MOST CANADIANS HAVE BEEN AWARE of the fact that there has been an increasing flow of immigration from overseas during the past year. Considerable publicity has been given to the arrival of displaced persons from abroad and to the part which Canada has played in helping to solve the great post-war problem of finding homes for the many thousands of people made homeless by the war. In addition to the displaced persons, however, a large number of immigrants have come to Canada from the British Isles, from various parts of Europe and from the United States. In all, 125,414 new citizens, representing 52 races, entered Canada in 1948.

Largest Group From Britain

England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales sent the largest group of immigrants, 46,000 having come from there, of which 30,310 were from England. From northern Europe there came 17,000, which was three times the number for 1947. Immigrants from the Netherlands, numbering 10,000 made up the largest group from this region, but there were some Danes, Finns, Norwegians, Swedes and Swiss. From the thirty-seven members of the group designated as "other races" Poland sent the largest number, which totalled 13,799, while there were 10,011 Rumanians, and 9,386 Hebrews, who came mostly from displaced persons camps. All these figures showed increases over those of the preceding year, but in the case of immigrants coming here from the United States the number dropped to 7,381 as compared with 9,440 in 1947.

Farms Attract Large Number

Statistical reports showed that the largest group of immigrants were interested in farming, 34,260 of the total number having come under that category. No doubt the admission of these people has considerably alleviated the shortage of labor which has been acute on many farms throughout Canada since the war years. Some will already have farms of their own, but others will be working on farms, some with the intention of later owning their own land. This will tend to offset the decrease in the farm population which took place during the war, when many left the farms to join the armed services or to work in industries, and did not return. A large part of Canada is primarily suited to agriculture, and it is regrettable to see abandoned farms, or land which is not used to its fullest capacity because of lack of sufficient help. While there is need for skilled help in many industries, there is little doubt but that those who plan either to work on farms or to take up land of their own, are among the most welcome class of immigrants at the present time.

Cost Of Living Continues To Drop In United States

WASHINGTON.—The labor department reported a fourth straight month's drop in United States living costs.

The consumers' price index declined 3 per cent. between mid-December and mid-January. This continued a down-trend from the August-September all-time peak.

How To Get Quick Relief From Sore, Painful Piles

I can help most pile sufferers. I believe I can help you too if you want relief from the itching, soreness and burning pain of piles. My Hem-Roid treatment is different. Hem-Roid is an internal medicine—a small tablet taken with a glass of water. It corrects the conditions which cause the piles; it causes you such intense pain, itching and pain. But I'll be honest with you. Hem-Roid seems to help some pile sufferers more than others so I want to protect those who are not satisfied. I refuse to ask people to pay for something that does not help them as much as they expect it to. If Hem-Roid helps you, surely it is worth the small cost. Otherwise, I want you to have your money back. I'll take about two weeks and people are honest about such things. All I ask is you use Hem-Roid as directed and let it do its work. Then if you are not satisfied return what you did not use and get your money back. This is an unusual offer but Hem-Roid is an unusual medicine. It has been sold on a refund promise for over 40 years. I am not asked to make money refunds so it must help most folks who use it. At all drug stores.

CALGARY STOCK EXCHANGE IS BUSY PLACE.—The Calgary stock exchange is a busy place, the days of wild speculation are over, despite Alberta's greatest days of 1914 and 1926 oil booms are not to be seen in the Calgary exchange today. The demand is good and steady, but there has been no public stampede for company shares. Clearing houses in a busy place these days and, here, J. W. Speers receives his share certificates from Madeleine Kinder. Forty million shares of stock were traded on the Calgary exchange last year.

Flood Situation

Counting On Law Of Averages

WINNIPEG.—Western Canadians are counting on the law of averages, plus experience, to prevent a recurrence this spring of 1948's million-dollar floods.

Public works officials say that under nature's own rotating system, floods of last year's magnitude come on the average of only once every 30 years. Then too, they say, western Canadians learned much last year and will know through experience how best to combat the threat of inundation.

British Columbians are watching the situation with some concern. Last year flood damage was estimated by provincial authorities to have exceeded $25,000,000, with the Fraser River reaching its highest level since 1894.

In Alberta where the coal mining districts in the central part of the province bore the brunt of last year's floods, public works officials have expressed confidence over the outlook for this spring.

Towns and villages in Saskatchewan which were waterlogged for weeks last year are making their own arrangements in case of recurrence. Steps are being taken to insure the safety of machinery and other equipment which might be damaged by water. Residents at such places as Roche Perce in the southern section of the province, inundated last year, are prepared to move valuables to higher ground.

In Manitoba, where the Red River Valley became a bloated lake last spring, splitting the province from the United States "border to Lake Winnipeg," conferences are being planned between American and Canadian officials to consider what steps should be taken against floods.

Residents along the Souris River, which courses through western Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan, say floods will come in their district, however, if even average snowfall occurs in March.

The same fear has been expressed in other sections of the west. Heavy winter snows gave vent to the belief that while flooding won't be as severe as last year, it'll be enough to dampen more than spirits.

VETERINARY LITERATURE

Some of the earliest veterinary written on the anatomy and diseases of animals is found in ancient writings. Among the Greeks much was of animals.

—Irishman: "No, let's hear it."

Advice To Young Hockey Players

OTTAWA.—Syd Howe, a former hockey great, gave hockey loving youngsters some advice.

"Get educated," he said. "Hockey players need a good education if they are to compete in business or industry when their hockey days are over," he added.

Howe, all time high scorer of the National Hockey League, is now in private business here.

Steel Available For Pipe Line

OTTAWA.—Because of an arrangement to import 40,000 tons of steel from the United Kingdom it has been possible to allow the application of the Imperial Oil company for steel pipe to construct an oil line from Edmonton to Regina, Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, trade minister, said.

The oil line is expected to run a distance of 500 miles between the two provincial capitals.

The Imperial Oil application has been in abeyance for some time because the available steel facilities and supplies were all booked.

The United Kingdom shipment relieved the pressure sufficiently to permit authorization for the Rolling mills to include the Imperial Oil order in its schedule.

MANITOBA T.B. MORTALITY DOWN

WINNIPEG.—The death rate for white persons in Manitoba from tuberculosis sank to 20 per 100,000 in 1948, Dr. E. L. Ross, medical director of the province's sanatorium board, reported at its 38th annual meeting.

The board passed a resolution recommending federal authorities consider allowing provincial authorities to spend half the funds appropriated under the tuberculosis control grant to assist in financing existing services.

IRMA TAKES TROPHY IN RURAL HOCKEY

VERMILION.—A great day of hockey was seen here Saturday when the Vermilion Amateur Athletic Association held its annual rural hockey tournament. Nine teams entered and Irma won the first prize with three wins in a row, taking a thrilling final game from the Vermilion agricultural school team by a 6-3 score.

Irma defeated Myrnam 3 to 0 in the first game and eliminated Dewberry 4 to 1 in the second round, to meet V.S.A. in the final.

The college team began the day with a 2-1 overtime victory from the Ottawa district team and then had an easy 11-0 win over Earlie. This brought them against the good-looking Kitscoty team in the semi-final, resulting in a close 1-0 win.

V.S.A. had the hard road, being drawn in the extra series which meant they played four games during the day to Irma's three. They lost the final in a very sporty game with the Irma team.

Following the final, Tom Watts, manager of the Northern Hardware store, presented the captain of the Irma team with the Northern Hardware trophy. Reg. Mitchell, president of the Vermilion Amateur Athletic Association presented the winners with a $100 cash award, and the V.S.A. team the $50 second prize.

The final game was seen by a sellout crowd, with proceedings much enlivened by the college students attending 200 strong to cheer their team. Scoring for the winning team was by Symington, Jones, O'Connor, Symington, Jones, Manz. For the college, Tsingston, King and Lewis were the marksmen with Christie getting two assists.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

THE PILE OF JUNK

By WANDA MOORE

HEY, Mr. Brown, want a lift?" Mr. Laney shouted. Mr. Brown looked everywhere but at him. "Didn't expect to see me driving a car," Mr. Laney muttered to himself.

He poked his head out of the glassless side window. "Over here, Mr. Brown. Hurry, before the light changes."

Mr. Brown saw him and nodded. As he stepped briskly across the sidewalk, he looked with disfavor on the battered front fender, at the rust spots dotting the bright blue paint, and at the glassless door. He stepped gingerly on the running board and slid into the seat beside Mr. Laney just as the light changed.

Mr. Laney joined the parade of traffic. "Surprised you, didn't I?" His pale blue eyes twinkled momentarily at Mr. Brown and then back at the car in front of him.

"Surprised me?" asked Mr. Brown. The twinkle increased in the blue eyes. "Yes, me with a car. Wait till the wife and kids see it." Ecglemeent bubbled in his throat.

Mr. Brown turned in the seat and looked squarely at Mr. Laney. "Haven't they seen it yet?" he asked.

"None!" Mr. Laney shook his head vigorously. "And, Master, will they be excited?"

"I doubt it," said Mr. Brown, as he turned to examine the worn upholstery. "Do you mean to tell me that you are taking this pile of junk home and are going to pawn it off on your family as a car?"

It was lucky for Mr. Laney that the light changed to red because he jammed his foot on the brake and turned to stare at Mr. Brown. "Was this his neighbor, Mr. Brown? The man who borrowed his lawnmower and whose wife borrowed the vacuum cleaner with regularity. Was this the man who said that no family was complete without a car? Yes, and a very sour-looking Mr. Brown."

"What do you mean?" he asked, as he moved ahead with the green light.

"People have been talking car for weeks now. Your children stand around and admire my car whenever I have it out of the garage. They'll be ashamed of this rattletrap. Mr. Brown laughed harshly. "You'll be the laughingstock of the neighborhood."

Mr. Laney tightened his grip on the wheel. Just keep on talking, brother, he said to himself, and you'll be the laughingstock with that black eye you're asking for. He wished that he had not picked up this voice of doom.

He forced his voice to remain calm. "They know we can't afford a fancy car. Of course," he added slowly. "If Mitt hadn't broken her arm falling out of that tree, there would have been more money."

"You shouldn't have gotten a car, if you couldn't get a decent one," Mr. Brown commented sourly.

"Oh, yes, I should." The vision of Mitts was between Mr. Laney and the car in front of him. Mitts crying with one arm dangling at her side. Mitts begging him to forget the old arm so that he would have money to buy the car. Mitts not wanting to spoil something that they had all counted on during the months that they had pooled money toward the dreamed-of car.

"Now, my children," Mr. Brown was saying pompously, "are proud of our car. You want your children to be proud of what you have. There is no pleasure for them in something they're ashamed of."

"We just want to have fun," said Mr. Laney. "The kids can tumble all over this car."

"And blush for shame every time someone sees them riding in it," the voice of doom grew stronger.

Mr. Laney was just driving now. All the pleasure in his new possession had left him. Maybe Mr. Brown was right? He could feel the worn upholstery without looking at it. He could see the battered right fender and a smattering of rust spots. It would be a disappointment to the kids not to have a nice shiny car like Mr. Brown's. The wife wouldn't say anything. She'd understand, but the kids... He had been so sure until now.

He slowed the car. Maybe he'd better take it back. No, by golly! He stepped on the gas. He'd show Mr. Brown.

With a flourish, he stopped in front of his house and honked the horn. Mr. Brown pushed the reluctant car.

Love-Note Takes Modern Form

DENVER.—Modern production-line techniques evidently have invaded even the age-old field of love-note-writing in school.

A Denver teacher reported confabulating this note from one of her elementary students:

"Dear Herbie:
"Do you love me?... (yes)
..... (no).
"Check one."

The Kind Of A Car
The Children Want.

tant door handle and slid out of the car. He gained the sidewalk just as the Laney front door flew open and three young Laney and Mrs. Laney ran toward the car.

"I can run faster than Mama," yelled Mitt, her broken arm flapping in its bandanna cradle.

"Oh, Dad," cried Sonny, his eyes shining, "you did get a car. Can we help you shine it and then go for a ride?"

Mrs. Laney said nothing. Words were not necessary. Her eyes said, "Dear, you're wonderful."

Out of the corner of his eye, Mr. Laney saw the obvious disappointment on Mr. Brown's face. He felt like saying, "These are my kids, Mr. Brown." He said nothing, as Mr. Brown turned away with sourness puckering his face while he gave the car one last disdainful look.

Suddenly, the Brown front door flew open. The two Brown children ran excitedly down the walk and up to the car.

"Oh, Mr. Laney," cried the older girl, "what a swell car."

The younger pulled open the back door and tumbled onto the seat. "This is the kind of car I want," she chirruped. "No worry about scratches. You can sit on the seat without being yelled at. Oh, Mr. Laney, it's beautiful. Can we go for a ride?"

Mr. Laney nodded happily, but he did not dare to look at Mr. Brown. He did not want a chunk of the near exploding Mr. Brown landing in his eye and keeping him from giving the whole bunch a bang-up ride.

Place Names In Canada Lack Beauty

REGINA.—During the last few years there has been a distinct change in the choice of names for Canadian sites.

And in the words of a Saskatchewan historian, "The names they give nowadays don't mean anything."

Zachary M. Hamilton, secretary of the Saskatchewan Historical Society, says many modern place-names are "exceedingly silly and show a singular lack of individuality."

A few of our beautiful—and ordinary—names are straight importations from the old country. Glasnevin, Sask., was named after a cemetery in Ireland and Innisfail is another Irish name.

One string of towns in Saskatchewan along a railway line is all named after relatively unknown railroaders.

All over Canada the general practice of naming lakes, mountains and town-sites after a minor contemporary figure is increasing.

But names linked to actual local history or local description are becoming a thing of the past.

Mr. Hamilton says many of this province's most beautiful names—chosen many years ago—came from the Cree, "a gentle, soft, lovely and very descriptive Indian language."

Names like Simla and Moosomin are from the Cree.

Saskatchewan May Boost Highway Hard Surfacing Program

REGINA.—Possibility of Saskatchewan highways department embarking on an enlarged hard surfacing program to conserve diminishing gravel supplies in the province was foreseen by Highways Minister J. T. Douglas speaking in the budget debate in the legislature.

In the course of his 90-minute address, Mr. Douglas defended the work his department had done during the past five years, after taking over, he claimed, the "biggest" and "worst" highway system in Canada.

WHEAT SUPPLY FOR CROP YEAR 471,300,000 BUSHELS

OTTAWA.—Canada's total wheat supply for the 1948-49 crop year has been placed by the bureau of statistics at 471,300,000 bushels, compared with 429,300,000 bushels in the 1947-48 crop year.

The bureau released the total in its monthly review of the world wheat situation on the basis of revised figures showing a carry-over of 77,000,000 bushels of wheat at July 31, 1948, the end of the 1947-48 wheat year.

A tree with a butt diameter of 12 feet and a length of 278 feet, produced 105,000 board feet or enough lumber to build eight houses.
